McKinney, TX; June 05, 2012 - Grimes Development, a premier commercial developer in McKinney, has contracted Prosites Online for its internet marketing services. As part of their new partnership, Grimes Development will achieve the most robust marketing strategies to improve their online performance.

“Our number one marketing initiative for 2012 was to align our company with the strongest web development team available. Prosites Online demonstrated they could take our web presence from ordinary to extraordinary”, says Russell Grimes, Owner and Chief Developer at Grimes Development.

Prosites Online will provide Grimes Development with a custom website design, search engine optimization (SEO) services, content creation, press release writing, social media services, online compliance services, analytics and monthly reporting.

“Prosites Online is thrilled to have Grimes Development as a new internet marketing client,” said Rey Colon, President and CEO of Prosites Online. “Their new internet marketing campaign will increase the frequency that their projects show up in local and regional search results and generate additional traffic and leads.”

Prosites Online’s services will help increase Grimes Development’s custom website’s page ranking and win more online traffic, and become actively engaged with social media, while creating a powerful and effective online presence. They will analyze many of Grimes Developments online efforts and capitalize on the programs that are truly helping them sell their services.
